GRADES GET PLAY SHED REMODELED

The Grade School Play shed is being made over to make it useful as an all-weather play spot.

The shed now has two sides boarded up, a half wall along the other two sides and a fine floor. This improvement to our school will give the grade youngsters a chance to play outside during these wet and wintery days.

Last year, the grades played in the regular gym along with the high school group. The result of this crowding was noise and confusion and little satisfaction to those who were trying to play.

Thank you P.T.A. and also our thanks to the School Board.

RED CROSS NEED IS URGENT

From Mrs. Ursula R. Burgess, acting chairman of War Relief production has come the announcement that we are to duplicate quotas of war relief garments assigned in October.

Quoting Mrs. Burgess, "The need is most urgent, owing to the distress among thousands abroad as a result of the continued war. The most we can do would not be adequate to meet the needs."

THE GODS SAY NO—

The gods of victory frown upon us and our struggling basketball team goes down to defeat. Butte Falls started the "logs a rollin'" and beat us 38-20 in a close check ing game. Then came the Redskins from J'ville who outscored us by 4 big points (23-19). This game had the crowd in an uproar right up to the final gun. Preparatory to the St. Mary's game, our star center, Dave Hannaford, split his finger with a wicked axe. St. Marys rode over us 52-22 with their center, Jensen, collecting 21 points.

On Friday, Jan. 19, the tall boys from Prospect, aided by rabbits feet and pounds of horseshoes, downed us 37-24. Grieves' sharp shooting netted 16 points. Our team began to click in the last three minutes of the game rolling up 11 points in that short time. In those few moments the audience saw a sample of the kind of ball handling and team play that it takes to win games. We all hope the boys will catch that winning spirit and play ball like we know they can.

The season is only half over now. With more players becoming eligible, with the maimed healed,

THE MISSING LINK

Is there a little bit of school spirit left in the hearts of our students? We are beginning to wonder.

Not so long ago a pep rally was announced to be held as soon as school was dismissed. Evidently the student body expected the cheer leaders to hold the rally on the bridge; at least that was where the main part of the students went. A few stragglers were found at Edison's store and a few more wandering aimlessly about town.

When a pep rally is announced, everyone knows it will be held in the assembly hall, and everyone is expected to yell during the meeting. A lot of people come to make wisecracks and unnecessary noise which makes it rather hard for the leaders. Why not start in right now, students, to make use of the time allowed for pep rallies and make a good showing at the next game?

WHERE TO? AND WHY?

Getting all they can for nothing is the way a great many people of this country live today. Such people are called "Chiselers."

In school these people are the ones who try to get through on somebody else's work. To themselves they say, "Why should I study this stuff. What good is it going to do me? I'll just ask John what it's about---just in case. Maybe I can get enough out of the class discussion to get it. The girl in front of me is pretty smart, too." Having firmly fixed these arguments in mind, these people use the study halls for a place to visit, to kill time behind a newspaper, or to wander up and down and in and out. When the report cards come out, they are to blame their J's and incompletes on the teacher, who, according to their way of thinking, is just here to put up with such laziness and annoyances.

It is said that school life is a preparation for life work. If some people should try to earn a living in the same way that they try to earn credits, they won't live well.

(V. Olson)

Our Student Body is another group which shows up our lack of school spirit. Very few members voice their opinions about anything and the main part of them carelessly vote "yes" on every motion that comes up. With such a help as this blind voting, almost any good, fast talker could put over any plan in the form of a motion and the disinterested students would ignorantly pass the motion. This isn't showing any loyalty, interest or school spirit. It makes the school and all the activities seem very uninteresting and no pride or care is taken in giving the necessary student support that every school needs. Let's try giving out with a little more school spirit from now on. (Editor J. B.)

The last Student Body meeting presented a decision to the yell leaders that they could purchase costumes for their leading. They are to be in the school colors--purple and gold. The girls plan on having gold satin blouses and royal purple flared skirts.

For the convenience of every one who enjoys our basketball games we now have the spectators section divided into two sides. On one side we wish the visitors to sit and on the other side the Eagle Pointers. We think it will be much nicer for then every one will be together for the yells.

We are proud to have four new students added to our school this semester. Mary and Joan Nussbaum, a freshman and a sophomore, came from St. Mary's Academy where they have been attending school. Also there are Howard Parker, a freshman from Shady Cove; and Frances Brask, a former student here.

D. P. H. C. EXPRESSES THANKS

We wish to extend our thanks to the schools who have been exchanging school papers with us. We hope other schools have enjoyed our paper as much as we have enjoyed Jacksonville's "Arrow", Tallent's "Hi-Life", Sans Valley's "Hi-Lites", Central Point's "Pointer", and the S.O.C. "Sishiyu". We would like to have more schools respond and exchange their school papers with us.

HEALTH CLASS LUNCHEON

Believing that one way of learning good table manners is by practicing them, the girls' health class had a luncheon Wednesday noon in the science room to learn how to eat soup. Since soup is a healthful food, they felt that they should learn to eat it in the correct manner--not audibly but silent.

Well, here we are at the beginning of a new semester. We pulled through all our tests all right, with six Freshmen with blue cards.

We have two additions to our class now, Joan Nussbaum, and Howard Parker. We also have new students in our science class, Quentin Lewis, Lee Hobbs, and David Vestal. Audrey Knighton is now in our orientation class.

The local Red Cross rooms are open each Wednesday at 1:30 p.m. (Eagle Point Grange Hall). All workers are urged to continue their splendid work and all who did not have the opportunity to assist before Christmas may do so now.

The second team has proved itself worthy of much praise. "They have won every game except one. That one was dropped to Lowerman's Madford Sophmores 23-21. They will have a chance for revenge in the near future when the Madford team visits the local floor.

This Friday, Jan. 26, Talent comes to Eagle Point to open the last half of the seasons games.

The cheering section has been showing some fine improvement. The leaders have been doing nicely and some fine cheering has been heard. Let's keep it up!

SOPHMORE NEWS

We sophmores are having considerable difficulties in maintaining a class. Merton Bradshaw dropped out last week. We have a new member, Mary Nussbaum, who will raise the number to twelve in the class.

The sophmores are going to study harder this six weeks and try to get more blue and white report cards. Joyce Grissom held up the tradition of our class with her usual blue card. It was the one and only one in our class.

The sophmores are wondering if they can't do something to make money. The seniors did quite well and the juniors are off to a good start. Must we wait patiently until we are upper classmen before we can be "in the money?" It is just an idea for diversion, that's all.

SENIOR NEWS

We turned the candy stand over to the juniors at the beginning of this semester, so they can earn a little money to hunt us up on sneak day.

The candy stand proved profitable during the last semester. After all debts are paid, we will have $57.36 to spend. We shall use part of the money for graduation announcements, part for sneak day, and the rest for a present to the school. We should like for everyone to pay up his debts so that all accounts can be cleared.

Having had a little accident with an axe, David Hannaford couldn't play basketball for a while. Elmer Harnish is back on the team after a few weeks off with a bad knee. Perhaps they will give us the breaks we need.

Two students (the Walch Boys) were talking during a concert given by the Eagle Point Band.

"That fellow Millard has no control over his gang at all," said one.

"How do you figure that out?" asked the other. "Well, the very minute he quits threatening them with that little black club and turns his back on them, the quitters stop working. Just watch them!"

Little Gus was out on a farm visiting his grandparents. One day he saw his grandfather milking the cow. Being a city lad, he had never seen a cow milked, so he asked, "Whatcha doin', Gramp, draining her crank case?"

FIRST AND SECOND GRADE NEWS

Dick Mulhollen and Ethel Harrison have been neither late nor absent this school year. Dick and Ethel are both in the second grade.

Ruth Powell, a first grade student, has been on the Honor Roll all of the first semester. Her grades have been above eighty five or an average of a one or two. Jo Ann Gosnell, Rose Lee Charley, and Lois Hirsch of the second grade have also been on the Honor Roll all semester.

Sandy Clave. He's a fine hunting dog. He's remarkably smart. Eddie Dahack. Yes, I noticed he gets behind a tree when ever you go to shoot.

Gus--Have some candy, Miss Olson Sweets for the sweetest, you know.

Miss Olson--Oh! Thanks, Gus, have a nut.

GIRLS BECOMING ATHLETIC

The girls in the Physical Ed. Class are beginning to take more interest in the athletics every day. Basketball seems to be the favored sport, but volley ball is running a close second.

The freshmen girls are surprising the upper classmen and director, Miss Olson, with their athletic ability.

The Junior and Senior girls are working hard to earn extra points. By earning sufficient points, they will receive an award of a sweater.

New squad leaders were elected at the beginning of the new semester. Beo Caster was chosen for the older group and the Freshmen elected Frances Davidson.
